The Journal of the Small Air Force Clearinghouse

Index to Small Air Forces Observer (1977-2016)

Jim Sanders, editor and founder, Small Air Forces Clearing House
Index compiled by Alan Hawk

The purpose of the Small Air Forces Clearinghouse (SAFCH) was to "promote interest in the history and modeling of the aircraft of the smaller countries of the world". In support of this goal, the SAFCH encouraged international cooperation in researching aviation history, both military and civil, from all periods of time, and for all the smaller countries. The results of this research were published in our quarterly journal, the Small Air Forces Observer (SAFO) from 1977 to 2016.

Forward

October 2019

A little over 45 years ago, Jim Sanders, aka my father, volunteered to correspond with aviation enthusiasts from behind the “Iron Curtain” to fill a much-needed void of information regarding the small air forces of Eastern Europe. He had sent an inquiry to International Plastics Modelers Society (IPMS USA), asking to be put in contact with their “specialist” on Polish aviation. The magazine’s response was that they had no “specialists” in this area, asking instead, if he could fill that position. My father’s solution to this problem, since he was not qualified as a specialist, was to offer to become the clearing house for such information.

From this innocent inquiry, the Small Air Forces Clearing House, SAFCH, and the Small Air Forces Observer, SAFO, were born. For over 43 years – from January 1975 to April 2018 – SAFCH members and subscribers from all around the world would contribute their personal experiences and knowledge to this quarterly journal, resulting in nearly 5,600 pages containing a wealth of information not found anywhere else. Many professional and personal friendships resulted from this collaboration – most of them have lasted a lifetime.

In 2018, when my father’s deteriorating eyesight would prevent him from continuing the work of publishing SAFO, scores of tributes flooded into the office, offering thanks and gratitude for the invaluable work this journal has produced for over four decades. Hopefully, this digital format containing all 41 Volumes of SAFO will soften the blow.

Kathleen Sanders

Carmel Valley, California, USA

About the founder, publisher, editor and contributor.

James Sanders is an emeritus professor of physics at the Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) in Monterey, California. He has had a lifelong fascination with aviation, from working on balsa wood scale models as a child during WWII to studying the history of aviation and the physics of hydro dynamics as an adult. He majored in experimental physics, minoring in theoretical physics and aeronautical engineering at Cornell University with a PhD in 1961.

As a professor of physics at NPS, Professor Sanders, along with his colleague, Alan Coppins, was requested by coauthor Larry Kinsler to continue updating the popular college textbook, "The Fundamentals of Acoustics." This request came after one of the original authors, Austin Frey, had passed away. This textbook is now in its fourth edition and has remained in print for 69 years.

In 2004, Professor Sanders retired from NPS after serving as the associate chairman for instruction in the physics department. In 2009, he received the prestigious Acoustical Society of America's Rossing Prize in acoustics education. However, his work to bring together aviation historians from around the world in an effort to preserve the history of smaller air forces is one that he is most proud of. The publication of SAFO ran for 43 years and produced approximately 5,300 advertisement-free pages.

Professor Sanders still lives in sunny Carmel Valley with four daughters and two grandchildren nearby to keep him entertained.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is a "small" air force?

A short answer is that a "Small Air Force" is any military air unit (air, navy, army, and paramilitary) that has not been covered in nauseating detail by the English-language aviation and modeling publishing establishment. This excludes the USA, UK, France, Germany, Japan, Russia, etc. However, it does not necessarily exclude countries with a large number of aircraft such as Czarist Russia, pre-WW2 France, etc.

Where did the name "Clearinghouse" come from?

In 1976, I wrote to the International Plastic Modellers Society (IPMS) asking to be put into contact with the "Area Specialist" on Polish aviation and included a couple of questions to indicate the extent of my knowledge of the subject. They replied that they didn't have a specialist on Polish aviation and asked if I would be their specialist in that area. I replied that I was not a specialist in any area, but that I would be willing to serve as a "Clearinghouse" for information on Polish aviation, and then naively added "and any other small country". They accepted and before long I had collected so much information that I decided that I had to share this information with others by publishing the Small Air Force Observer.

What is the difference between SAFCH and SAFO?

The Small Air Forces Clearing House (SAFCH) is the not-for-profit organization that published the quarterly journal the Small Air Forces Observer (SAFO). Subscribers to the SAFO automatically become members of the SAFCH.

Is SAFO any relation to Sappho, the ancient Greek poetess from the Isle of Lesbos?

No!
